A CURIOUS COMEDY.

It is a fact probably better known to the Custom-house officials than to outsiders, that at least every tenth woman who crosses the Detroit river, carries who crosses the Detroit river, carries snuggled goods. These goods may be tea, coffee, socks, thread, ribbons, or something else of no great value; but the intent to snuggle is there, and the success in bringing over a small lot is nearly always an inducement for the snuggler to try the game on a large scale. Men may, and do snuggle clothing now and then, but it is the female sex which carries the burden of guilt. The Customhouse officials at the ferry dock in this city are as vigilant as officers can be, but city are as vigilant as officers can be, but what chances have they against mon-strous hoop-skirt and gigantic bustles? They cannot stop to pesp under shawls, examine pockets, look into baby carts, and hold a crowd on the boat, and so they must continue their work with the knowledge that goods are being smuggled and that only one grand and sudden haul of their nets can trap the guilty, and frighten the insocent so that they shall never dare to pursue the business. The net was drawn yesterday. The officers commenced about 2 o'clock, walked fifteen or twenty women up stairs into the Custom-rooms and hand-ed them over to a woman to be searched. Every boat-load which landed for about three hours was treated in the same man-

three hours was treated in the same man-ner—that is, all the female portion. Some were indignant, and appealed to their husbands, who vainly appealed to the Custom officers. Others wanted to faint away, but after a look at the planks and dust, concluded not to. Others wept, laughed or turned pale, but none of them were permitted to escape. Dur-ing the afternoon about one hundred and fifty women were confronted by Uncle Sam, and the old man had a good deal of fun, and made some wonderful dis-coveries.

For instance—a modest little woman, who was in a great hurry to go home to her sick child, pulled out a few pins, and ten yards of English flannel fell to the floor. A tall woman, with tears in her cyes, who asserted that she would rather chen has been doff them to think of smure hop her head off than to think of smuggling, unfastened a pound of tea from her skeleton, and asserted that it must have been placed there by some design-ing person. Another one indignantly denied "the right of search," but after remaining a prisoner for an hour or two, told the searcher to "take it, and go to grass," throwing a package of ribbons and laces upon the floor. A lot of calico was found on another, some velvet on another, and at least ten per cent. of the whole number were found to be engaged in sunuggling. The officials were satis-fied with confiscating the goods.—[De-troit Free Press. troit Free Press.

It is proposed to tap the waters of Tulare Lake at its lowest level by a navi-gable canal, drawing ten feet in depth of water, with a width of 60 feet on the bottom and 120 feet on the top, and to run this canal to tide-water, on a grade of three inches to the mile; and as Tuare Lake is about 250 feet above the level of the sea, it would leave an eleva-tion at Antioch of 200 feet to be utilized as a means of discharging grain into the holds of ships. It is English capital seeking investment in this enterprise.

James Kennovan, well known on the Pacific coast as a celebrated 100-hour walker and athlete, has engaged to per-form the remarkable feat of dancing thirty-one consecutive hours at Farragut Hall for the benefit of the orphans. This novel proposition grew out of a promise made by him some two years ago.
